Customer Reviews

It was s gift for children ages five and six and eight. They thoroughly enjoyed it, what more can be said, except that the price was quite affordable, it arrived swiftly and provided hours of giggles.

I used this book for activities for seniors age 65-94 years old and they loved it. If you are an Activities Coordinator for a retirement facility this is a great tool to help exercise the mind.

My 7 year old granddaughter loved this book and it was much more reasonably priced than in the book departments of local stores.

I returned it, because the first page I opened to, had a joke about a "moron", and I just couldn't give it to my young kids and have them go around saying that word. It's an ok book for older kids, who may know better.

Not really a book for children. Maybe tweens?

I bought this for my 11 year old twin grandsons. I was embarrassed when I was told there was a riddle in the book about a deaf person. That really sucked because one of the twins is deaf. Not cool.

Some riddles are puns, some are beginnings of tall tales, but overall very funny and worth the $8 required.

My 9 year old grandson just loves this book. He reads the jokes out loud to his younger sister and they laugh their heads off.
